

ALL FOR A SHAVE

Journeymen Barbers Are Excited
Once More

OVER THE UNION SCALE

Representatives of the Barbers' union have been around to the shops which have not complied with the recent action of the union and removed union cards.

They ran against snags in several shops on the west side and elsewhere, the proprietors of which would not give them up. The president of the union yesterday caused writs of replevin to be issued for them from Justice Holcomb's court.

Emmett Horton, who owns a shop in the basement of the Wonderly building, is the only one of the down town barbers who is opposed to charging an extra nickel for lavender, witchhazel, neck shaving, etc. He said last night that he believed it an injustice to the public and no real advantage to the trade.

He said he would not charge more than $1.00 a week and he would not charge more than $1.00 a week for the lavender I use. The action increasing the price, he said, was imposed by the union on a very narrow vote, and he proposed to run his own business notwithstanding his friendliness to the union. If 13 cents straight was charged right through he would favor it.

E. A. Wells, who has a shop under the Kent Savings bank, said he proposed to stand by the union price. His men for several months had been making more than he has, and the amount that a first-class shop had invested in fixtures and other expenses to meet the luxury of the times might better be put out at interest and the proprietor go to work as a journeyman. He claimed the only increase is on sea foam, and that he has lost only one customer for the change. His receipts last Saturday were $7.50 on account of the change. Journeymen barbers are the most poorly paid of any artisans, and he is willing to vote for an increase in their scale of wages under the new prices.

This souvenir will be distributed among the thousands of visitors on the occasion of the great meeting.

Quite a concourse of friends gathered at her late home on East Fulton street, including several members of the Old Residents' association. The Rev. Dr. Jackson made a brief talk fitting the occasion, and a quartet sang appropriate selections. A long line of carriages containing many well known persons followed the casket to the grave.

Several local physicians went to Muskegon yesterday to attend the twenty eighth annual meeting of the State Medical society. Others will go today. THEIR OPENING DAY.
Crozier Bros. Entertain Friends in Their New Quarters.

Crozier Bros., the well known and popular shoe dealers, entertained their friends yesterday in their new shoe emporium, at the corner of Lyon and Canal streets, and right royally did they do it.

The firm's grand opening was a success in every respect, and the great crowds of ladies and gentlemen that were in attendance greatly enjoyed their short visit to the handsome quarters.

There were many features offered for this occasion by Crozier Bros. to their friends that were novelties and were fully appreciated. The handsome souvenirs of the world's fair were in great demand, and the splendid ice cream soda presented to the ladies and gentlemen was an expensive little token of the firm and was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Lovjoy's orchestra furnished the music and enlivened the occasion with finely rendered musical selections.

The new stores of Crozier Bros. are a model of neatness and attractiveness and are without question the largest and most convenient shoe stores in the state.

An idea of the great number of people that were in attendance may be gleaned from the number of glasses of soda water given away. It is estimated that fully 10,000 glasses of the cooling beverage were served, and even then there were scores upon scores of ticket holders that were unable to secure a position near the soda water fountain.

Crozier Bros. are deserving of great credit for the enterprise they are showing, and each one present yesterday at the firm's opening left the premises with the wish that their hosts ever enjoy a lucrative business.

Of the immense stock of goods shown nothing can be said but words of a commendable nature. There has been many large additions made of new goods, each department is replete with a full assortment of footwear, and as in the past Crozier Bros. will adhere strictly to the policy of "live and let live."
